

ACNM Agreement and Release of ACNM Data

The American College of Nurse-Midwives (hereinafter “ACNM”) hereby consents to the release of certain proprietary information (hereinafter “the data”) to _____ (hereinafter “the transferee”), who agrees to the following terms and conditions:

- 1. The data. The data consists of _____.
- 2. Use. The data are made available by ACNM solely for academic research or other noncommercial purposes. The data may not be sold, exchanged, donated, or otherwise subsequently transferred to a third party without the written consent of ACNM.
- 3. Confidentiality. The transferee shall not use the data in any manner, which would disclose the identity of any individual or institution, with the exception of ACNM. In addition, only grouped (aggregated) data will appear in any thesis, dissertation, book, article, report, publication or writing.
- 4. Attribution. If all or part of the data are used in a book, article, thesis, dissertation, or other publication or writing, or in a presentation, the transferee shall include therein acknowledgement of ACNM as source of the data. If the data are used in any publication or writing the transferee shall state that any conclusions, interpretations, or opinions contained therein do not necessarily reflect those of ACNM. The following statement will appear in any presentations or publications:

“The views expressed in this (manuscript, presentation) do not necessarily reflect the opinions or official policies of the American College of Nurse-Midwives.”

- 5. Alteration of data. If any part of the data have been altered by the transferee, such changes shall be clearly identified in any publication, presentation or writing.
- 6. Disclaimer. ACNM shall not be held to be legally liable or otherwise responsible for any errors contained in the data.
- 7. Rights. ACNM retains all rights to the data not expressly waived herein. The transferee agrees to honor all restrictions applicable to the use of materials copyrighted by ACNM.
- 8. Violation. Violation of any part of this agreement will be considered to be scientific misconduct.
