All other abstracts will be reviewed and scored blind by the program committee members. If you are a researcher and would like to present an education session, please submit a general abstract, select a primary track and research as a secondary identifier. Abstract submission in any category does not guarantee acceptance.

IMPORTANT DATES

Submission Dates: The electronic system will open on Friday, May 15, 2015 and close Friday, July 10, 2015 at 11:59pm EST.

Notification of Acceptance/Rejection: The official notifications for ALL ABSTRACTS will be e-mailed after the second week in November 2015. This will be followed by a final e-mail containing presentation time that will be sent after the second week of February 2016, to all registered, accepted presenters.

GENERAL ABSTRACT INSTRUCTIONS:

All abstract submitters will have a poster option. The American College of Nurse-Midwives is very excited to introduce this opportunity for sharing ideas at the ACNM Annual Meeting. One abstract site and submission date for all presentation formats. We are actively recruiting posters, educational sessions, workshops, roundtables and panel discussions. In addition, we are excited to offer new options for abstracts. All abstract submitters will have the option for either a table talk discussion or ICM format.

What is a Table Talk discussion? Table Talk discussions are oral presentations with participants seated around a table. The use of this format allows for a more informal venue that is interactive and flexible in design. Table Talk discussions allow for colleagues with similar interests to give and receive targeted feedback. Each Table Talk session will be 30 minutes long allowing for a 5-10 minute question period. There will be a moderator present at each Table Talk session to make sure presenters begin and end their presentations on time. Participants attending Table Talk discussions will rotate between presentations. Table Talk discussions are held without audiovisual aids.

What is the ICM (International Confederation of Midwives) format? The ICM format clusters similar presentations together within the usual 60 minute time frame. The time will be divided between the 2-3 presentations with a 10 minute Q&A period at the end. A moderator will be assigned to each cluster to help ensure that each presentation is afforded the appropriate time. For the Q&A period, the audience will be asked to submit questions in writing. It is anticipated this will help to ensure that all members in attendance will have an equal opportunity to have their questions answered.

We invite abstract submissions for posters and oral presentations on topics relevant to midwifery, including clinical, research, global health, public policy, education and leadership. All poster submissions should describe an innovative approach to the clinical, educational, leadership, business and policy or global service aspects of midwifery education and practice. For Research Posters, please see below. Posters may describe a clinical project, address elements of clinical practice that expand on current practice or introduce novel approaches to care. We welcome posters on the delivery of full scope maternity care, high risk obstetrics, gynecological issues, family planning, primary care, pediatrics as it applies to the newborn, and behavioral and psycho-social aspects of care. We also welcome topics, which include the management of counseling and therapies for psychological conditions and challenges surrounding a woman's life along with health promotion and disease preventing strategies. The College both supports and encourages posters that address the art and science of providing midwifery care. Political and business practice issues, public relations and development of public and private programs serving childbearing families and mothers from a grassroots to global approach are vital to the growth of our profession and our goal for improving maternal child care and the care of all women. Students are encouraged to submit posters describing scholarly projects, service learning innovations and Masters or DNP Capstones or PhD dissertations. All general posters will be considered for CE, therefore references and bios need to be submitted during the call. Please follow the general guidelines for abstract submissions.

We expect all interested presenters to submit their abstract according to the track which most closely relates to their topic.

GENERAL GUIDELINES for Abstract Submissions: The following is the content you will be required to submit. Abstracts that are incomplete, late or not consistent with the format will not be considered.

ACNM is committed to being a diverse and inclusive association that reflects the communities that we serve. The following guidance is included to increase the number of presentations that reflect this commitment. Abstracts submitted for educational sessions and workshops should include, to the extent possible for your topic, health disparities, health inequities, and the role of social determinants of health. Here are some suggestions for how you can include this content in your abstracts.

- Define and describe health disparities and contextualize health inequities in this presentation
- Discuss the implications of demographic trends for health inequities
- Explain how cultural biases may shape clinical encounters
- Address the need to assess individuals and families based upon a psycho/social/cultural/political/spiritual perspective

All general abstracts submitted for oral presentation must go beyond ACNM core competencies or show new learning (new research, new models, etc), and have appropriate documentation of references. References from the past five years, from peer-reviewed, refereed journals or texts are required with the abstract submission. Topics relevant to full-scope clinical midwifery including primary care, evidence-based practice, global health, education, business, and policy that expand on current practice or introduce novel approaches to care are sought.

The behavioral objectives serve to clearly outline what the participant will learn as a result of attending this session. Each objective must be stated in terms of learner outcome i.e., at the end of the session the participant should be able to demonstrate the following knowledge and/or skills.

An outline should be submitted and relevant to each objective. The outline and the objectives must support each other and be directly related. For each content area, be sure to indicate time allocated.

Review of submissions: The Program Committee will conduct a blinded review all abstracts after the submission deadline.

Abstract submitters must adhere to the following rules:

- ACNM reserves the right to cancel a presentation based on noncompliance at any point on any issue.
This includes but is not limited to: failure to return signed presenter agreement, failure to submit handouts, presenter changes, etc.

- The individual submitting the abstract is considered the primary contact. All correspondence about the abstract will be emailed to the primary contact person. The primary contact person is responsible for providing any communication details to the other presenters.
- The submission of an abstract does not guarantee participation in the program.
- ACNM is a noncommercial forum. Under no circumstances may a session be used as a place for direct promotion of a presenter's product, service, or monetary self-interest. Sales pitches disguised as presentations will not be considered.
- Presenters do not need to be ACNM members in order to submit an abstract.
- ACNM will provide laptop computers for education session presentations. ACNM will only provide the following audiovisual: Laptop, LCD projector and screen, one wired lavaliere microphone and podium. All other AV needs must be communicated to the meeting planners prior to the conference. A presentation laptop computer will not be provided for workshop presentations. Workshop presenters must bring their own laptop and notify ACNM in advance if they plan to do so.
- All workshops will be identified as half day (4 hours) or full day (8 hours).
- All education session presentations will run 60 minutes. Presenters should limit the scope they will cover and focus on pertinent issues.
- Regardless of ACNM's decision to accept your abstract, we will notify all presenters of the results. If a presentation abstract is selected, information regarding important deadlines and requirements will be provided to the primary speaker.

RESEARCH ABSTRACTS

Abstracts may be submitted for consideration by either the Division of Research (DOR) or Division of Global Health (DGH) and for one or both of the two types of refereed research presentations that are available at the ACNM Annual Meeting.

Submission Dates: The electronic system will open on Friday, May 15, 2015 and close Friday, July 10, 2015 at 11:59pm EST.

Notification of Acceptance/Rejection: Each abstract receives blinded peer review. Abstracts with the highest scores are selected. Presentation time frames are assigned by the DOR/DGH Committees. The official notifications for ALL ABSTRACTS will be e-mailed after the second week in December 2015. This will be followed by a final e-mail containing presentation time that will be sent after the second week of February 2016, to all registered, accepted presenters.

FORUM PRESENTATIONS: A forum presentation is an oral presentation of completed original research on a topic specific to midwifery practice. Therefore in order to present a forum, findings must be available by the time of the annual meeting. Forum presentation slots are limited. Abstracts submitted for a forum presentation, but not accepted, may be offered a poster presentation opportunity if the poster presentation option is also checked. Depending on the number of presenters in each forum, presentation will be limited to 10-15 minutes in length, followed by a 5 minute question-and-answer period. Forum presenters will be offered an opportunity to revise their abstract for publication in the Journal of Midwifery and Women's Health. In order for Research Abstracts to be eligible for CEU credit, the primary author must also provide a short reference list and a biographical sketch.

POSTER PRESENTATIONS: Completed research or research in progress may be submitted for consideration as a poster presentation. Completed research may also be submitted for a poster presentation if the poster presentation option is checked. All posters must fit within a 4X8 foot freestanding poster board and hang using stickpins. Presenters are expected to be available to discuss their posters with Annual Meeting participants during a designated time (to be announced) during the meeting. Because poster space is limited based on space available at the meeting, the highest scoring abstracts will be accepted for poster presentation slots.

Note: Student midwives are invited to submit abstracts for either or both forum or poster presentations of research. Student abstracts will receive the same blind peer review as all other research abstracts.
