

AMERICAN
COLLEGE OF NURSE-MIDWIVES

MEMORANDUM

TO: Richard Riley
Secretary, U.S. Department of Education

FROM: Betty Watts Carrington, CNM, EdD, FACNM
Chair, ACNM Division of Accreditation

DATE: February 29, 2000

RE: Accreditation Decisions

The Board of Review, the body of the Division of Accreditation (DOA) of the American College of Nurse-Midwives (ACNM) that reviews nurse-midwifery and midwifery education programs and makes decisions regarding preaccreditation and accreditation status, met January 28-29, 2000, in Washington, DC. At the conclusion of the meeting, the following programs received preaccreditation or accreditation status:

PROGRAM	TYPE	STATUS
Case Western Reserve University	Master's Nurse-Midwifery	Accredited
Institute of Midwifery, Women and Health	Certificate Nurse-Midwifery	Accredited
University of Southern California	Master's Nurse-Midwifery	Accredited
Ohio State University	Master's Nurse-Midwifery	Accredited
SUNY Stony Brook	Master's Nurse-Midwifery	Accredited
University of Cincinnati	Master's Nurse-Midwifery	Accredited
University of Kansas	Master's Nurse-Midwifery	Preaccredited
University of Maryland	Master's Nurse-Midwifery	Preaccredited
University of Texas at El Paso	Master's Nurse-Midwifery	Accredited

Also, please note that the following program has announced its intent to voluntarily close in 2001:

University of Rochester Master's Nurse-Midwifery

For more information about the American College of Nurse-Midwives or nurse-midwifery and midwifery education programs, visit our web site at WWW.MIDWIFE.ORG. If you have any questions or require additional information, please do not hesitate to contact either myself at 203/737-2338, or Lara Slattery, Education Manager, at 202/728-9877. Thank you.