

ACME | ACCREDITATION COMMISSION for MIDWIFERY EDUCATION

ACME Seeks Board of Review Members Deadline: Open until Filled

The Accreditation Commission for Midwifery Education (ACME) is seeking individuals to serve on the ACME Board of Review (BOR). This is an unmatched volunteer opportunity that places dedicated, passionate professionals front and center in discussions and decision-making that lead to the best in midwifery education. BOR members provide mission-based leadership and strategic governance over the accreditation process. They evaluate midwifery education programs for the purpose of granting pre/accreditation, monitor accredited programs to ensure continued compliance with ACME criteria; and as needed, review Mandatory Progress Reports (MPRs) from midwifery programs.

ACME seeks dedicated, passionate professionals to join the BOR and who meet the following qualifications, all or in part:

- CNM/CM member: active or associate member (two-thirds of the BOR must be active members of ACNM)
- Minimum of a master's degree
- Five years of midwifery practice or education experience (clinical preceptors are invited to apply), at least two of which are within the five years preceding appointment to the BOR
- Familiarity with the accreditation process (Ex: site visitors for any organization or program director experience, etc.)
- Familiarity with digital communication and workflow technologies such as Dropbox, Zoom, Google Docs, etc.
- Commitment to attend meetings and join conference calls as necessary

For consideration, applicants must submit the following items via email to Angela Smith, ACME Executive Director at acme@acnm.org:

- Curriculum Vita (CV)
- Letter of Interest or Cover Letter
- Two Letters of Recommendation- Note: Recommendation letters may not be from ACME volunteers (Board of Commissioners, Site Visitor Panel, Advisory Committee or Board of Review) or staff.

To learn more about this rewarding opportunity, please send an email to acme@acnm.org and please visit Volunteers to learn more about volunteering at ACME.
